

The NOYES FAMILY

of ANDOVER -

Rev. William Noyes, rector of Choulderton, (11 miles from Salisbury and near the seat of the Earl of Pembroke,) was born in 1568; He married Anna Parker, who died and was buried in Choulderton, Mch. 7, 1657. She was sister to the Rev. Robert Parker.

Her will, made Mch. 18, 1655; probate Apr. 21, 1658, at Somerset House, London, leaves 1 sh. to son/^s Rev. James Noyes and Deacon Nicholas and cousin, (nephew), the Rev. Thomas Parker, all of New England. These three came here in 1633.

William, the Rector, had most of his estate confiscated because he became a dissenter. His son the Rev. James and his colleague, Thomas Parker were for the presbytery as opposed to the congregation, and opposed the Boston platform.

James, born in/^{Wiltshire,} 1608; went to Brazenose College, Oxford, but did not graduate. He taught, for his uncle Thomas Parker, in the Free School of Newbury, England, until he came here to America. He became a preacher because of their influence.

He married Sarah Brown, daughter of Joseph Brown, of Southampton, Hants Co., England, just before they set sail from England in the MARY & JOHN, 1633. James d. Oct. 24, 1656 ; she d. Sept. 13, 1691. He left an estate of 657 Lbs. 11sh; 6 d.

James, who inherited intellectual gifts from both sides of his family, was called one of the most learned and gifted of the Massachusetts preachers of his day. Even Mather,, one of his opponents, spoke highly of his talents. He was said to be the father of the non-conformists, in this country.

Newbury, where he located, with Thos. Parker, and Nicholas, 1635, was then a lawless town, and the two preachers had their hands full.

The NOYES FAMILY
of ANDOVER -2-(in England)

The family historians trace their ancestry back to the Wm. de Noyers, of Norfolk Co., England, who is recorded 1086 in the DOOMESDAY BOOK. The name is also spelled Noers, de Nores, Denoires, De Noier, and finally Noier and Noyes.

Some claim that the name meant : of the Walnut Tree. Their crest was a chapeau turned up with ermine and a dove with olive branch in its beak, on top, -a coat of arms used by a William Noyes, who was Attorney General for Charles I.

Seekers insist that the original family had a Norman estate held by grant of William the Conqueror; and those still more imaginative trace the family spelling to Noye and to Noe, and so back to Noah and the Ark. All moonshine !

The NOYES FAMILY

of ANDOVER

In this article I thought to take up briefly the branch of the Noyes geneology from Col. Thomas (2); son of the Rev. James Noyes, of Newbury. He had two wives: Martha Pierce, and 2nd Elisabeth Greenleaf, from whom the Andover lines descend. She was the daughter of Capt. Stephen Greenleaf and Miss Elisabeth Coffin, and a grand-daughter of Capt. Edmond (1) and Sarah Dole of the old Kents Island family. (not proved yet.)

Among her children was Joseph (3) Noyes of Newbury who married Hannah Wadleigh, a daughter, so far as we have learned, of Jonathan Wadleigh, and doubtless an Exeter girl, name unknown.

Jonathan (4) Noyes of Newbury, last of the ancestry there, in our branch, was a very fine soldier. He was Capt. of his Co., and had six sons with him in the War of the Revolution.

Aaron (5), the baby, at 17, went as drummer boy, and was at Bunker Hill, and served three more years, although not credited so on the Army Rolls. Wadleigh (5) another son, was wounded and died; Joseph, (5) a Lieut. ended his days, a widower, in the home of his brother in Andover.

"Life", as they called the other, (Eliphalet), Dudley and Jonathan, all served nobly.

The history of these does not belong to Andover, and is well told in the Noyes Book.

Jonathan (4) Noyes married Lydia Bancroft, daughter of Thomas Bancroft and Lydia Emery, of Reading, in 1742. They were contemporary with William Morse and Phebe Bodwell, two more descendants of Belligerents. To these two lines: Morse and Noyes, came a host of Colonial honors. (So, if any descendant craves the joys of "bragging" and the expense of proving, and can wait at the tail of a long cue of applicants to that overloaded company of Colonial Names, here is her chance.)

The NOYES FAMILY

Lydia named Aaron, the little drummer boy of '75, after her cousin in the Bancroft line, as it was not a Noyes name. Aaron came here and settled in West Andover, from Newbury, about 1781. He had married, in 1779, Phebe Morse, whose folks had gotten as far as Methuen by that time. Wm. her father, came back to West Andover, and died at the home of his daughter and Aaron, and is buried in the Noyes lot in West Parish Yard, but is not well recorded. His widow lived to be 93, dying at her son's home in 1825.

Aaron Noyes, by all accounts, was a loveable man. My aunt Foster, one of his younger grand-children, was a favorite. The old Colonial Mansion, in his day on the River Road, was sold to Crowley, and burned later. After Aunt Foster's mother died, she went to live at grandpa Noyes' and the house seemed to her, large and well furnished.

Aaron used to cross over to Methuen in a boat at the Glen Falls point to do his shopping and she would sit at Noyes' Rocks, now covered by the overflow from the dam below- to wait his return.

In 1830, when the United States gave money to all our towns, Aaron, then a little old man, attended the three days' Town Meeting, and raised aloft on the shoulders of his loyal friends, pleaded that the $3.00 apiece allotted to every man, woman and child in Andover, be applied to the erection of a new Town Farm to accommodate the feeble survivors of the War of the Revolution and of 1812.

The Alms House was built later of Frye Village brick, and our gift from Uncle Sam still stands. Salem built a workhouse for convicts with her allotment but ours is the only Old Folks' Home, so given.

Aaron (6) Noyes, who married Dolly Jordan, moved to Yonkers, N.Y. He died in Newark, N.J. We had visits, at long intervals, from his line.

The NOYES FAMILY

of ANDOVER -3-

Lydia (6) Noyes married Samiel Osgood and was mother of the first Mrs. Thomas Clark, and grandmother of Jesse.

Frederick (6) Noyes lived in West Andover, where he died in 1874, at the age of 80. He married Hannah Varnum of the Dracut line from George (1). His daughter Mary (7), married Bimsley Stevens and lived near Frye Village. The Fieldings and Lovejoys took the girls of his line.

Hannah Varnum (7) married Moody Abbott and lived on the Ward place up the road to the church. Fanny (7) married William Chickering and had one son George, who survived. Sarah R. (7), married a minister, the Rev. Joseph Burbank, of Plattsburgh, N.Y., an Andover Seminary student. Caroline (7) had two husbands and lived out west somewhere in Indiana. Emily (7) married Daniel Shannon and the whole family succumbed to tuberculosis.

Ellen (7), born in 1827, married a Rhode Island farmer named Burdette. Fred, called Jr., was a son who had an eccentric streak from some old line. He was born in 1829, and married, in 1882, a widow, Isabella Bailey. He died, almost a hermit, in 1898, and she married a Chelmsford man.

Charles D. Noyes was one of the most enterprising of the sons of Frederick (6). Though not a strong appearing man, he had good health, and throughout ^{most of} his life conducted a drug store in Charlestown. He married Harriet E. Williams of that city. He finally returned to Andover, and died here. His surviving son, Henry, is one of our most respected residents today.

The children of Jonathan (6) Noyes, were not many, I judge. He moved to Hopkinton, N.H., but died here in Andover in 1861, -War time. His wife, prior to marriage had been a widow Childs, of Londonderry, and she settled in Lawrence with a son, George Childs, whose school days were the same as mine.

The NOYES FAMILY

of ANDOVER -4-

George's mother was a favorite with all of us children, whom she treated with sugar plums, and we always enjoyed the visits of " Aunt Childs" as we called her, and her aid in the family mending. She had a shop near the Lawrence jail, for years. A step-daughter, Jane, by Jonathan's first wife, was Mrs. Joseph Gage of South Lawrence, who lived over John Howard's store at the Bridge.

Wadleigh (6) Noyes married Phebe Ballard of the old Andover line, who had gone to the hospitable old farm of cousins at Peterboro, N.H. The oldest son, Nathan (7) died aged 20. Aaron (7) who came next, had a strange history. Born in 1829, he married first, Sarah Lovejoy, daughter of Ebenezer, and moved to Nashua, N.H. He then wandered West, forsaking his wife, and may have contracted another marriage. We never got the whole of his story nor farther clue to any family. Little Mary (7) died at 3 yrs., in 1833. Josiah Milton (7) died of consumption at a home in Boston, unmarried.

Moses (7) died at 5, in 1839. We recall William Gilbert who lived with his father, and left no children. Twins: Mary and Martha were born in 1839 and Martha lived until 1919. She married Harvey Leach in 1882, but left no children.

Mary, her twin, married Capt. Edwin Whitcomb, and lived in Melrose, where they had three daughters; my last record is not up to date.

Alfred (7), the youngest, died in 1887, at 46. He left a widow, Mary Lovejoy and a son John Lovejoy(8) Noyes, who was, at the time of this writing, on the Lovejoy place, near Joseph Lovejoy's.

(to be concluded)

Saranna Noyes , of Newbury (Vol. 6 page 121 of Ipswich Book) evidently widow of James (1) Noyes, in will dated July 3, 1665, leaves : Stuff and them-all under age; land to ~~xxxxxx~~; daughter Elizabeth to have the bedding ; Thomas is to have his father's Bible; sons Robert Thomas and John Rogers.

(Abraham and Peter Tappan, wits.)

Daniel Noyes d. 1716 at 42., sd. Coffin's NEWBURY.

" As you are-so was I-
God did call- I did dy-
Now children all-
Whose name is Noyes-
Make Jesus Christ
Your only choice."

Timothy Noyes who d. 1718 had about the same advice and rhyme similar.

James (2) Noyes was said to be as fully gifted as his father. He was a physician as well as a minister, and was a chaplain in the War. He received a grant of land at Voluntown, Ct., and was one of the first trustees of Yale. He was a clergyman in Conn., but could not legally marry persons until 1696.

In 1649 the wife of Nicholas Noyes, of Newbury, was summoned before the Court for WEARING A SILK HOOD. She was dismissed on proving that her husband was worth more than 200 lbs.

Mrs. Boynton says that Col. Thos. Noyes had a freehold lot, 1 1/2 mi. above where they live at Pike Stave Hill. George Noyes, a descendant lives there. Sent me views of the old home of James (1) still standing on Parker St. Newbury. Judge Sam'l Sewell, a pupil of James lived close by.
