

Gray

by Joshua Stasio

gray's the color of the lonliest day.

the thoughts that make your mind go astray.

the bare spot on the slide where the children did play.

the wonderous sound of metal through air.

the sorrowful song of a wise one's hair.

the steam in a pipe to burst without care.

the taste of the tears that run down your face.

the bitterness of a horrid disgrace.

the sweet cold revenge of staying in place.

gray is the color of true emotion.