

Michaela Voorhees
Doherty Middle School, Grade 8

Skiing

Flying down the mountain.
Skis clinging to the icy slope,
Threatening at each turn
To break free of my control
And send me soaring, tumbling
Down the mountain.
And as I complete
One more successful curve,
They set the snow
Air borne behind them,
That the snow might learn
To fly.